

Here are some possible combinations of the basic membrane (Blue). Each combination creates a unique LAYER-structure inside the LOCAL holon. This way Elementary Particles can be created. Probably the BOSON-Types of fundamental particles have an outer layer of basic membrane at their outside.

Below images show the inside direction but identical holons can be created at te outside of the sphere. And of course both (Inside and outside) can interact and make new combinations.

